1975
EDISONIAN

EDISON
HIGH SCHOOL
EAST GARY,
INDIANA
VOLUME XXXIV

Parkside Avenue, East Gary, Indiana — that's where we started our day. At 8 A.M. we checked into homeroom which foiled many ideas to ditch. In and out of 25 classrooms we paraded past the new principal and his assistant.

We wondered if we could adjust to their rules and ideas. We settled into the routine as cool weather robbed us of cherished freedom. Instead of paying attention our eyes wandered outside the windows when the snow fell.

Between classes we'd make locker stops for a chat with a friend, a quick brush of the comb, or just to unload books. Up in the girl's balcony we carried our lunches or if the menu didn't please us, off we went to Arman's, Burger Chef, or even MacDonalds. Revitalized, we lasted until 2:55. If no one waylaid us in the foyer to reflect on the day's activities, we got to our meetings or practices on time, or took a book or two and left for home. Being together 7 hours a day, 178 days a year, we got to know each other pretty well and made many lasting friendships.

STUFF WE DID

What didn't we do? We were practicing in the summer's sun prior to fall classes. Working hard we released our frustrations and energy. After the games we went to dances and parties celebrating our victories and acknowledging the defeats. Homecoming brought spirit, floats, competition, and finally victory. We anticipated Christmas vacation and the start of 1975, but mid-term exams weren't so inviting. Decorating for the prom combined late hours, hard work and imagination; the memories were worth every extra touch. Graduation brought tears, happiness, and the end of the year. But we did have fun.

Pep sessions send school spirits high

1. Student Council pep singer, Doug Goffman, is in charge of Hemlock High pep sessions. 2. Junior Gabe Potholakis, Hemlock, is having a fantastic time. 3. Freshman Pete Strough is with the crowd when it belts out "Alyssa's in a pinch." 4. Coach Ken Kestel (left) cheers on April Hemmingsen-Turner on Varsity Ski.

*Homecoming 1974 —
a complete success*

We had been waiting a long time and we were becoming quite impatient. It seemed as if it would never arrive and suddenly it was here and no one was ready. After all the weeks of working on our hall projects and floats we finally realized nothing was done. Homecoming '74 had caught us unprepared. There were last minute things to do — about a hundred of them. But we made it.

Everything went well and fell into its proper place starting with the Fighting Eagles leading at halftime 7-6. The seniors proved to be the dominant class by winning both hall project and float. Sophomores took the award for hall decoration.

The honor every senior girl dreams of was announced next as Nancy Novkovic was crowned Homecoming queen for 1974. Soon the team returned to the field bringing with them renewed strength and the victorious score of 21-12 which was the proper finale to an exciting week.

1. N. Novkovic shows her joy at becoming Homecoming queen. 2. R. Haney retorts to crown new queen. 3. J. Carnegie and D. Taylor talk it over. 4. L. Jacob dances at Homecoming sock hop. 5. WHEN THE BELL RANG

We went to homeroom for attendance and announcements. Classes began and ended. We listened, goofed off, and sometimes something would sink in. A lot of times we daydreamed, thinking of the summer past. Reality was the test we faced next hour.

At the end of the day there were club meetings. Moneymaking projects or activity ideas were put into action. Sometimes we stayed for help on complicated courses; finally, the last bell rang. It signified the end of the year. There was no chance to go back and study harder or turn in that late assignment. We hope we accomplished the goals we set in the beginning.

Language learners practice accents

1. Gladys Mendez reads about Spanish customs. 2. Dave Beres shows his skill while writing the answers on the board in French class. 3. Tom Bolles and Jim Russel get use from the language lab.

FACES WE SAW

At first that's all they were — faces. Then as the year progressed, the faces became personalities. They became our best friends or worst enemies.

We got to know the new administrators and teachers. We knew by their expressions if we could "get away with it" or not. Our friends became familiar with our moods just by looking and listening to us. There were special looks meant for only one, but understood by just about everyone. Some faces we may never see again, but, hopefully, they won't be forgotten.

Our senior year has come and gone.

Our senior year has come and gone. We waited three years for it to arrive and then all too quickly it was gone leaving us with only 133 out of our original 183. We worried about careers, money, our lives-everything. We may remember a dance, a close basketball game, or an unforgettable romance. Our talent in designing winning hall projects for homecoming would never be surpassed. For the third consecutive year we won hall projects, and to top it off we won best float our senior year. Until the last moment there was indecision about post prom. With only 71 dollars to spend all year long, we debated even having a post prom. As one of the smallest recent graduating classes at EHS, we knew they would remember us for one reason or another, the senior class of 1975.

Upperclassmen title impresses juniors

It finally happened! We were upperclassmen. All the worries we faced as underclassmen were gone. We got our class rings in October and wore them with pride to symbolize our new status. Spirit wasn't lacking with us. For homecoming we dressed up as farmers to support our float, a huge piggy bank with a silver coin. Pep sessions were always exciting because of competition among classes. The first spirit trophy of the year was awarded to us. Whoever made up the slogan SPIRIT OF '76 must have been thinking of us. Making plans for the prom was a major problem. We sold candy, and finally, after all the worry, everything turned out fine. As the year came to a close, we knew that we would be returning as seniors for our final year at E.H.S.

Sophomores return experienced, wise

We started the year with confidence because we knew a little more about the school. Our class really had spirit; we won our first spirit trophy, and received first place for hall decoration during spirit week. What really made us cheer was having sophomore guys on the varsity football team. When basketball began, quite a few sophomores ended up on the J.V. team. Winter dragged on and finally it was spring and that day had come to order our rings. Now another wait. The day will come soon enough when we will be wearing our class rings and having to plan our futures.

project: J. Balfour, J. Grebelsch, R. Jakowicz, K. Shugart, K. Vartanian, K. Faulkner, K. Hendrix, K. O'Brien, and M. Harlow.

Anxious new freshmen invade Edison halls

We entered the year leery and somewhat afraid of unknown things. The first few weeks were exciting and new, but soon became routine. Our freshman BOYS suddenly turned to nothing as the upperclassMEN crossed our paths. We had many new responsibilities to face as Homecoming changed from make believe to reality. Soon after football basketball began. We didn't have great turn-outs at the games, but we enjoyed every minute. Christmas vacation gave us time to catch our breath before 1975 began. We gradually learned names to go along with faces and what was expected of us from the teachers. By the end of the year all the events meshed into memories. "Frosh", as we were called all year, would no longer be our title. We had survived that first year at E.H.S. and were looking forward to next year when we would be the experienced all-knowing sophomores.

WITH A LOT OF HELP

What would we do without help? Every one in a community has to work together. The families, small businesses and corporations help support the schools to promote their businesses and help to finance our yearbook. Our patronization keeps them alive. We would meet at local restaurants after games and dances "just for a coke", or visit a local store for a few things that we absolutely needed. Their ads helped make this yearbook possible.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1 million (Office for National Statistics 1999). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 6.5 million by 2011, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 3.5 million (Office for National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of older people, and a number of initiatives have been developed to address this need. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy is based on the following assumptions: (1) that older people are a diverse group with different needs and interests; (2) that older people have the right to live independently and actively; (3) that older people have the right to access the services and support they need; and (4) that older people should be treated with respect and dignity. The strategy sets out a number of key objectives, including: to improve the health and well-being of older people; to improve the social and economic participation of older people; and to improve the quality of life of older people.

The strategy also sets out a number of key actions, including: to improve the health and well-being of older people; to improve the social and economic participation of older people; and to improve the quality of life of older people. The strategy is a key document for the development of services for older people, and it provides a framework for the development of policies and practices in this area.

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 2000). The prevalence of mental health problems has increased in the general population, and the incidence of mental health problems has increased in the prison population.

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the mental health needs of prisoners. The Department of Health (2000) has published a strategy for mental health services, which includes a commitment to improve the mental health of prisoners.
